Alex. H. Washburn Diversion of Tax Funds About as Bad as Pollution

The American Automobile Association is under attack for the way it spent its membership dues in California.

Last year the California state ballot carried Proposition 18 asking the voters to authorize diversion of part of gasoline tax revenues into pollution research and mass transit.

The AAA got into the act, donating $11,000 of membership dues to the campaign to defeat Proposition 18—and Proposition 18 was overwhelmingly defeated.

But California, highly sensitive to its smog problem, might well have endorsed Proposition 18 had it not been for the big fight launched by oil companies, road contractors—and the American Automobile Association.

Diversion of public funds from their original purpose is one of the reasons citizens are saddled with constantly rising taxes.

It may well be that some AAA members were outraged to discover their dues being diverted to a road-tax fight—but in the long run this writer thinks the AAA was acting in motorists' best interests.

Pollution is a great menace—but that is no justification for diverting road tax money away from highways.

Our present public funds troubles are largely due to diversion of tax money from one purpose to another. The Arkansas public schools are an example. Originally the state sales tax was dedicated to the support of the public schools and public welfare. But the legislature kept diverting the sales tax from year to year, so that the schools got less and less—and there is a never-ending demand for either a higher tax rate or a broader tax coverage.

No specific tax ever should be permitted to be diverted—however worthy the cause may appear.

The AAA is right, and its critics wrong, on the issue of gasoline tax diversion in California.

Promising Weather for Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The forecast for the weekend looks promising for those who like the outdoors.

The National Weather Service predicts generally fair skies through Sunday, with slightly cooler temperatures.

The highs Saturday will be mostly in the 80s, with the lows tonight in the 60s.

The cooler temperatures are due in part to a cold front which cut across the state south of Little Rock early today.

Drier air to the north of the front should spread across the state today, the weather service said, and showers and thunderstorms are only mentioned in the southwest and southeast zones.

The highs Thursday ranged from 94 at Little Rock to 90 at Fayetteville.

Sheriff Makes a Series of Arrests

A series of arrests and charges filed by Sheriff Henry Sinyard were announced Friday. Two youths, Chester Pogue and Guy Franklin Spencer were arrested in connection with thefts of wheels and tires from vehicles at James Motor Co.

Pogue was charged with burglary and grand larceny and Spencer was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Three youths listed as Terry Wayne Lee, Paul McPherson and Freddie McPherson were arrested and charged with forging and cashing a $30 check at a downtown store.

Jimmy Rogers, 21, has been charged with armed robbery. York and New Jersey by car. The Sheriff said he was charged in connection with the knife-robbery a few weeks ago of Smith's Grocery.

Japan Will Let Yen Float on Market

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government will let the yen float on the foreign exchange market beginning Saturday, the Foreign Ministry announced today.

The government's action, after two weeks of trying to hold the yen to a parity of 360 to the dollar, was a major victory for President Nixon's program to put the U.S. trade balance back into the black.

The yen, which was considerably undervalued, was the chief target of Nixon's announcement Aug. 15 suspending the gold standard and putting a 10 per cent surcharge on imports into the United States.

Finance Minister Miyo Mitsu said floating the yen—allowing it to find its own rate according to the demand and supply—would be temporary.

Japanese commercial banks, anticipating the government's action, sold dollars heavily today on the Tokyo exchange, and the Bank of Japan bought a record $1.2 billion at the interbank rate of 357.37 yen, the usual intervention level.

Dealers attributed to heavy selling to fears that if the yen is revalued, it will most likely be done during a weekend.

They said the commercial banks appeared to be unloading all their dollar balances as a precaution.

The commercial banks had bought more than $500 million Tuesday and Wednesday after the central bank warned them to adhere more closely to its guidelines on required holdings.

The commercial banks complained that this subjected them to undue risks since the dollar was floating on the European markets. The Bank of Japan then relaxed enforcement of its requirement, and the banks liquidated their dollar holdings.

The highs Saturday will be mostly in the 80s, with the lows tonight in the 60s.

The cooler temperatures are due in part to a cold front which cut across the state south of Little Rock early today.

Sign of the Times—Youth Doesn't Want to Be a Policeman

By PAT THOMPSON

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Our 5-year-old son, Scott, casually dropped a startling observation during dinner the other night.

"I want to be a bus driver when I grow up. I used to want to be a policeman, but they die," he said innocently, unaware of a concern in many major U.S. cities.

Scott starts kindergarten this fall. Like most parents sending their oldest away to school for the first time, my wife, Judy, and I are feeling a little sentimental about it all.

"Schools are for children to learn, to write and color good," Scott says.

With the thought of school approaching during a 1,300-mile vacation return trip from New York and New Jersey by car, we decided to ask Scott about some of his ideas or impressions of various topics.

Nixon's New Economic Program Wins Victory in Foreign Exchanges

Fears Soviet Superiority in Arms Race

By MICHAEL J. REILLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's new economic program won a major victory in the foreign exchange market today as administration officials continued attempts to woo labor support for its domestic policies.

The Japanese government announced it will let the yen float on the foreign exchange market beginning Saturday. The yen had been a major target of the import portion of Nixon's program.

The Japanese action is expected to improve the U.S. balance of trade and came a day after the Commerce Department announced a trade deficit in July for the fourth consecutive month.

After Nixon announced Aug. 15 the suspension of the gold standard and the imposition of the 10 per cent import surcharge, the Japanese government attempted to hold the yen to a parity of 360 to the dollar.

It said today's action, allowing the yen to find its own rate according to the demand and supply, would be temporary.

Earlier, the administration in a peace-making meeting with AFL-CIO President George Meany, guaranteed organized labor a role in determining what will follow the domestic 90-day wage-price freeze.

"Mr. Meany's response was to give us a good hearing and showing great concern about many aspects of the problems the freeze was causing, and that he hoped he would recognize those problems," Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said after Thursday's session with Meany.

3 Arkansans, 2 Others Die in Crash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A federal aircraft crash investigation team is in Knoxville to check into the crash of a twin-engine plane that resulted in injury to the five persons aboard.

The Federal Aviation Administration crash team routinely investigates crashes of all small aircraft. No results were immediately forthcoming.

The crash occurred in clear weather Thursday about a quarter-mile short of a runway at Knoxville's McGhee-Tyson Airport.

The aircraft, a Beech Baron, was en route from Memphis, Tenn., to Knoxville.

The crash team is expected to complete its investigation by Saturday.

Appreciation Show for Mills Promotes Him as Presidential Candidate

By ROBERT SHAW

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Billed as a nonpolitical show of "appreciation," a rally honoring Rep. Wilbur D. Mills Thursday night took on the trappings of a boomlet promoting the powerful Arkansas Democrat for president.

Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., looked over the capacity crowd of about 11,000 and said to cheers that the event held "the flavor of a national convention."

"No man in the nation is better qualified to serve in the highest office in the land as Wilbur D. Mills," Burke said.

Described by rally emcee and oldtime radio comedian Chester Lauck as the "nonleader of the noncampaign of the noncandidate" for president, Burke has been at the forefront of a movement to promote Mills for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has disavowed presidential ambitions.

The congressman, in his remarks, took no note of the talk of running him for president, but pledged "my best efforts to solve the nation's problems in the months ahead."

Burke and 32 other congressmen from 19 states, leaders of labor and business, the more than 11,000 in Little Rock's Barton Coliseum and another 3,000 to 5,000 outside who could find no seats turned out for the rally.

House Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma and Majority Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana were among the dignitaries.

U.S. Patrols Hit, Five GIs Are Killed

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP)—North Vietnamese troops assaulted two U.S. armored cavalry patrols south of Da Nang Thursday and killed five Americans in one of the heaviest U.S. losses in months.

Twelve other Americans were wounded, three armored vehicles were destroyed and a fourth was damaged. Enemy losses were not known.

One patrol from the Americal division was hit 16 miles south of Da Nang shortly after it camped for the night. The North Vietnamese attacked with rocket-grenades, machine guns and rifles.

It was in this attack that the five Americans were killed and seven were wounded. The steel-piercing grenades destroyed two armored personnel carriers and a Sheridan tank before rocket-firing U.S. helicopters and artillery broke up the attack.

The American toll five dead was half the number killed all last week, according to the U.S. Command casualty summary issued Thursday. Other such losses recently included five U.S. troops killed in an ambush Aug. 5, also south of Da Nang, and seven killed Aug. 12 when their helicopter was shot down near the demilitarized zone.

Fourteen miles to the south, North Vietnamese troops made a similar attack earlier in the day on another armored patrol. Five Americans were wounded and another personnel carrier was damaged.

U.S. B52 bombers kept up their heavy raids along the demilitarized zone, dropping 450 tons of bombs on suspected North Vietnamese troop locations, bunkers, storage areas and rocket positions.

Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese command reported 19 enemy attacks on its troops during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today. Government casualties were described as light.

There were twice that many attacks in the preceding 24 hours, the highest number in nearly three months. Military spokesmen consider the current upsurge an enemy attempt to reduce participation in the National Assembly elections Sunday.

Fighting resumed along the demilitarized zone after a one-day lull. The South Vietnamese command said 15 enemy troops were killed in an engagement Thursday afternoon while government losses were two men killed and three wounded.

The U.S. Command reported that Navy helicopter gunships attacked a sampan convoy beached and camouflaged at the mouth of a river in the Mekong Delta 85 miles south of Saigon. Hanson said 35 sampans and three junks were destroyed and 18 sampans were damaged.

He said there was no immediate report on what the sampans were carrying or how it was determined they were enemy craft.

Accused Slayer of 6 Will Testify

By DAVID GOELLER
Associated Press Writer
FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Brig. Gen. John W. Donaldson, charged with murdering six Vietnamese civilians and assaulting two others, is scheduled to testify today at a special hearing in connection with the trial of Col. Oran K. Henderson, accused of covering up the My Lai massacre.

Donaldson, a 47-year-old West Point graduate is one of three senior Army officers called as initial witnesses for the evidentiary hearing into the whereabouts of a missing report on the My Lai massacre. Defense lawyers say the report would exonerate Henderson.

The special hearing will run concurrently with Henderson's court-martial on charges he willfully failed to properly investigate reports of the massacre, failed to report actual or suspected war crimes and twice lied to a Pentagon inquiry into My Lai.

The hearing is being conducted without the presence of the jury of seven officers who began hearing trial testimony Monday.

The evidentiary hearing was granted by the military judge, Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, after the defense lawyers argued that the Army had a duty to produce a formal report prepared by the late Lt. Col. Frank Barker, Henderson's executive officer, about a month after the massacre.

The defense contended that the report was forwarded through Henderson, 51, to the American Division and told much the same story of My Lai as had an earlier report by Henderson.

The prosecution has not challenged the existence of a report by Barker-killed in a helicopter crash in June 1968—but it has told the court such a document has not been reported seen since April or May of 1969.

U.S. met briefly with federal secretary-treasurer Lane Kirkland, apparently laying the groundwork for the Hodgson-Meany talk.

What is to follow the freeze has become a dominant question for economic planners. And the Meany-Hodgson meeting was significant because of the labor chief's heavy criticism of President Nixon's new economic program.

U.S. said nothing has been decided, but "I think it will fall somewhere between the extremes," which he described as doing nothing or imposing wage-price controls.

The administration's chief of planning for Stage 2 of the anti-inflation drive, Herbert Stein, said "We would most devoutly hope to avoid ... movement in the direction of wage and price control."

"We regard Stage 2 as a stage in the transition from the freeze to free markets, and so will be looking at various possibilities of trimming the coverage, of adopting the guidelines, of invoking the cooperation in one way or another," said Stein, vice chairman of the Council on Economic Advisers.

Stein virtually ruled out an extension of the freeze. He predicted mounting problems as it continues toward Nov. 12, saying people can be expected to stand pat only for a short time.

The problems faced by teachers, whose salary status has been cloudy since President Nixon announced the freeze Aug. 15, were dealt with again Thursday by the Cost of Living Council.

The council declared that teachers working under a single, systemwide master contract in effect before the freeze would get the new pay rate if any teachers received it before the freeze.

A teacher holding an individual contract would be eligible for a raise if he accrued earnings at the new rate "which covered a period prior to Aug. 15, although he or she may not have actually performed any work during that period."

Utility Firms Continue Arguments

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Representatives of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. and Arkansas Power & Light Co. continued Thursday their argument before the state Public Service Commission about Arkla's gas curtailment policy.

AP&L had asked for the commission to clarify the commission's order voiding Arkla's long-term industrial contracts and establishing a new curtailment and tariff system.

AP&L argued that each of its four plants should be viewed as separate customers under the curtailment policy. An AP&L executive charged that Arkla's administration of the curtailment policy using the average price of gas to the four plants had the net effect of raising the price AP&L pays Arkla.

An Arkla official countered with the charge that AP&L was attempting "to run all the gas we deliver through those plants that pay the cheapest price."

AP&L pays between 23.1 cents and 29.5 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas at its four plants. The Arkla formula prorates the price of gas, regardless of which plant it is delivered to, at the average price for the four plants.

However, the issue may be moot, according to PSC Commissioner Robert Downie, because of a Federal Power Commission staff report that would place AP&L under the jurisdiction of federal authorities Oct. 15.

The staff report of the federal body has urged the full commission to adopt Arkla's proposed tariff system.

State Democratic party leaders at first had planned the event as a demonstration of support for Mills as a presidential candidate, but later made it a "nonpolitical" gathering to honor Mills' 32 years in the House. Mills said he wanted a nonpolitical rally because Republican friends wanted to attend and he did not want to embarrass them.

Prominent among the Republicans were Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt of Arkansas, the only GOP congressman to attend, and former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Restrictions were placed on partisan comments by speakers, but Burke and Sens. J. W. Fulbright and John L. McClellan, Arkansas Democrats, came out strongly for Mills for president.

"Wilbur Mills has the persuasiveness of a Franklin D. Roosevelt, the courage of a Harry Truman and the personality of an Alben Barkley," Burke said.

Fulbright was optimistic about Mills' chances in other states if the congressman should seek "a larger electorate." McClellan said he hoped the nation would take note of Thursday night's demonstration of support if Mills is elected to become a presidential candidate.

Albert, noncommittal to newsmen before the rally on his choice for the Democratic nomination, told the crowd that Mills "could hold with outstanding distinction any public office within the United States."

Albert said Mills' legislative contributions in the House were unsurpassed.

"Wilbur Mills, by any yardstick, is the greatest chairman of the Ways and Means Committee in my time, if not in all history," he said.

Albert said in an interview before the rally that Mills would make a "very strong" opponent of President Nixon.

There was a festive air about the rally. Free hot dogs and soft drinks were available, and, if you didn't have the price of the $5 admission, you could get in anyway.

As the coliseum filled up, police began closing the doors, turning away hundreds who didn't arrive in time. They waited outside, listening to rock 'n' roll bands, and the rally speakers, after finishing inside, went outside to repeat their remarks. Some persons left after finding there were no inside seats available.

Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., unrolled for those inside to see a paper he said had been signed by 2,000 members of the St. Francis Wildlife Association who were unable to get inside. There was no mistaking for whom the rally was being held. A large sign over the speakers' platform said, "Wilbur Mills — America's Most Distinguished Congressman."

Each of the congressmen wore "Wilbur Mills" buttons, and Bogs pointed out for newsmen that in Washington there were buttons that had a couple of extra words — "Wilbur Mills for President."

Many persons in the crowd wore paste - on patches that urged a draft of Mills for president.

The first speaker on the program, televised locally by Little Rock station KATV, was Gov. Dale Bumpers, who said that "no event in the history of the state has had the unifying effect as this event."

Hammerschmidt and his Democratic colleagues from Arkansas, Reps. David Pryor and Bill Alexander, introduced the congressional notables, with Republican Hammerschmidt noting "this great bipartisan rally."

Mary Lou Burg, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, told the crowd that Mills was "a legend in his own time."

Albert said the "size and enthusiasm" of the crowd was testimony "that the people from who he came know the quality of the man we are honoring tonight."

Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers, said the rally was "an amazing tribute to one of America's greatest sons."

He said that where there is a return to "certainty and confidence" by the people in the U.S. economy in the next weeks would depend to an extent on Mills, a reference to the role of Mills' committee in handling tax features of President Nixon's anti-inflationary tax measures.

Mills said Americans were prepared to deal with the complex issues facing them. He said he had been concerned for some time about the nation's approach to its problems.

"I pledge cooperation to those who seek answers and new direction for our economy and country," Mills said.

Some Will, Some Won't Get PayHikes

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 2.1 million school teachers will report for the first time this fall split into two distinct pay classes under President Nixon's 90-day wage-price freeze.

Hundreds of thousands will receive scheduled salary increases and hundreds of thousands won't. Beyond that, no one in government is willing to venture an estimate.

It depends on what types of contracts exist within school systems and when individual contracts are effective. "It's impossible to tell," said one Cost of Living Council spokesman. "There are too many different types of contracts."

The National Education Association asserts that 80 per cent of the teachers are eligible for salary increases despite the freeze. Privately, government officials doubt that figure but are not willing to challenge it publicly.

In its third policy statement on the question Thursday night, the council attempted to clear up confusion on the teacher-pay issue. It held officially:

—A teacher working in a school system having a systemwide master contract effective before the freeze began Aug. 15 most likely will get a scheduled salary increase. If any one teacher or worker covered by the master contract collected the new rate before the freeze began, then all teachers will get a raise, regardless of when they report for work.

The council had taken this position previously but had failed to make it clear that only "master" systemwide contracts were involved.

—A teacher working under an individual contract with his school board most likely will not get a scheduled salary increase. But there are wide variances in contracts by school districts and some may be able to escape the freeze, depending on when the contract period actually begins.

Here's how the council attempted to clarify the issue governing individual contracts:

"If a teacher in a school system has either performed work prior to Aug. 15 under a new contract calling for a wage increase or if the teacher was eligible to have earned a salary at the new rate prior to Aug. 15, the new rate is permissible."

A teacher is considered eligible if he "in fact accrued earnings (at the new rate) which covered a period prior to Aug. 15, although he or she may not have actually performed any work during that period ...

"The effective date of the pay increase for purposes of the wage-price freeze is determined by the two criteria—when the work is performed and when the individual is eligible to receive the new increase."

Eligibility can be proved by the period covered by and indicated in the paycheck, it said. If it is sometime before Aug. 15, salary increases are permitted even during the freeze.

Tucker Prison Farm Lease Terminated

TUCKER INTERMEDIATE REFORMATORY, Ark. (AP)—The state Board of Correction voted Thursday to terminate an agreement with Twin River Farms of Newport, which leases 3,300 acres of farm land at Tucker Prison.

There has been a dispute over whether the agreement set out a specific rice allotment or whether the farm was governed by federal regulations on the amount of acreage that was planted in rice.

In other action Thursday, the board voted to locate a proposed chapel at Cummins Prison Farm just west of the new vocational rehabilitation unit. A private group of civic leaders has organized to solicit funds for the new chapel.

Correction Commissioner Terrell Don Hutto told the board that work could begin immediately on improvements to the water and sewer systems at Cummins. He said the department had available $313,000 for the project.

Algerians Digging Up Vineyards

ALGIERS (AP) — Algerian farmers have started digging up their lower-grade vineyards to improve the quality of the nation's wine exports.

President Houari Boumedienne, in a sudden reversal of policy, has promised government aid to farmers to improve the yield and quality of the vineyards which were once Algeria's principal source of farming wealth.

Earlier this year, Boumedienne announced a campaign against wine production following a virtual embargo on imports of Algerian wine in France, its major market.

The drinking of wine and other alcoholic beverages is forbidden by the Koran, the Moslem holy book, and since the departure of the 1.8 million French settlers after Algeria won independence from France in 1962, there has been little domestic consumption of wine.

The French settlers produced a strong and often excellent wine which was shipped to France duty free and was mixed with French wines to increase their alcoholic content.

In 1963, Algeria expropriated the vineyards without compensation, and French imports of Algerian wine dropped from 317 million gallons to almost nil by 1968.

The government then tried to use its huge wine surplus in barter deals with the Soviet bloc. Last year the Soviet Union agreed to take 132 million gallons in exchange for industrial equipment, but at prices well below what the French used to pay. The deal still left Algeria with a huge wine surplus and not enough storage capacity to hold it.

Boumedienne announced this year that his government would solve the wine problem once and for all by no longer growing a crop planted by "the former colonial exploiters" for which the domestic market had disappeared.

The announcement ran into considerable opposition from conservative farmers, many of whom had never produced anything but wine. The government changed its policy.

Accompanied by a high-powered publicity campaign, farmers on Thursday began tearing out some vineyards chosen for their low yield and quality.

The vines are to be removed this year from more than 60,000 acres, or just over 7 per cent of the vineyard area. Private farmers and cooperatives will receive compensation and government help in converting to new crops. Meanwhile, the better vineyards are to get government aid to improve their yield and quality and make Algerian

Court Hearing Results in Bloody Riot

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After a violent, blood-spattered court hearing, a Sept. 20 trial date has been set for two surviving Soledad Brothers accused of murdering a prison guard more than a year and a half ago.

The club-and fist-swinging melee erupted Thursday after Doris Maxwell, mother of defendant John Clutchette, shouted a vulgarity at the judge in a pretrial hearing and he ordered her ejected.

Two black men jumped up and struggled with police officers and several black women spectators pushed toward Mrs. Maxwell. All were separated from the judge and defendants by a bulletproof glass partition erected in anticipation of possible trouble.

A dozen police tactical squad officers rushed in, swinging riot sticks.

Two bailiffs, three policemen, and a spectator were injured in the violence and two men were arrested.

One of those arrested was Philip Jake Price, 25, of Oakland, Calif. Officers hustled him out of the room but he fought his way back moments later with blood streaming from wounds over his eyes.

While baton-wielding officers pushed and knocked several men and women spectators to the floor, Price was pushed down in a corner, handcuffed and led away.

Mrs. Maxwell fell to the floor in the courtroom aisle during the disorder. Police said "she got up and walked out after the thing was over." She was not hurt, police said.

Price's brother, Earl M. Price, 27, of Oakland, also was arrested and booked for investigation on the same charges.

Mrs. Maxwell's outburst came in a hearing for Clutchette, 28, and Fleeta Drumgo, 26, before Superior Court Judge Carl M. Allen.

Their codefendant, George Jackson, 29, was one of six men killed last Saturday in an abortive escape attempt at San Quentin Prison. Three white guards and two white convicts also were killed.

The three blacks from Los Angeles were indicted on charges of beating a white guard to death in January 1970 at Soledad Prison near Monterey a few days after a guard had shot three black prisoners to death during what authorities described as a racial brawl in the prison exercise yard.

Charlie the Seal Has to Approve

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Before workers can fix their seal of approval to the USS Lexington's berth, they have to get rid of a disapproving seal named Charlie.

The Lexington is due Saturday at Pensacola Naval Station and the workers were trying to put finishing touches to its berth when Charlie showed up Tuesday.

He made himself at home on a barge tied to the pier where the 900-foot aircraft carrier docks at this Navy base on the Gulf of Mexico.

Workers are trying to install electrical cables on the dock and barge in preparation for the carrier's arrival.

But Charlie insists on privacy on his barge home. He has flashed a sharp set of dentures and barked at all intruders. Work stalled.

Score: Charlie 1, Navy 0.

One worker decided he wasn't going to be intimidated by the 5-foot, 150-pound furry animal. He boarded the barge to give Charlie the bum's rush.

Seconds later, the workman was barked back onto the pier.

Score: Charlie 2, Navy 0. Charlie soon proved he

Few Surfers Have It This Lucky

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif.

(AP) — Few surfers have it so lucky as 16-year-old Bob Bare. The muscular blond teen-ager is one of about 10 surfers permitted to use the Western White House beach—even when, as now, President Nixon is in residence.

"The beach is good for surfing," Bob says, "because of the way three or four reefs are situated. When a swell hits a reef, it gives a good, long ride."

The surfers are neighbors of the Nixons in the adjoining Cypress Shore community, which is walled, with a guard at the gate. Anyone can use the beach when Nixon is absent. But when he arrives, signs posted on the sand warn, "Restricted area. Authorized Personnel Only."

Secret Service special guards, wearing sidearms, patrol the beach. A Coast Guard boat lays offshore to keep other craft away.

The "approved" surfers have had uninterrupted use of the beach for about two years.

They include an airline pilot, businessmen and occasionally Rolf Arness, teen-age son of actor James Arness, who has a home in Cypress Shore.

"At first the Secret Service wasn't going to let anyone in," said Bob. "Then John Severson, publisher of 'Surfer' magazine, submitted a list of 10 surfers and got approval."

Severson was then president of the Cypress Shore Community Association.

"John felt we weren't as big security risks as some other people who might be coming down the beach," said Bare.

But when one of the approved group approaches the area, a guard checks his name against the list by walkie talkie.

The son of a retired Los Angeles County probation officer, Bob lives with his family across the road from the wall surrounding the Nixon estate. A senior at San Clemente High School, where he is on the swimming team, he rises at 3 a.m. daily to deliver newspapers. He surfs almost every day.

wasn't impressed by the brass, either. Capt. Ossian Butterfield, commanding officer of the public works center, went to inspect the job but beat a hasty retreat when Charlie objected to gold braid in his domain.

Score: Charlie 3, Navy 0.

The Navy called in Lt. Lewis Zangas of the Florida Marine Patrol. Zangas managed to coax Charlie off the barge with an offering of mullet. But 10 minutes later the seal popped back up on the barge, apparently waiting for dessert.

Score: Charlie 4, Navy 0.

The Navy has now worked out antiseal defenses. Three men will work on the barge—two of them installing electrical cables and a third swinging a rope to keep Charlie away, a spokesman said.

Zangas said seals are rare on Northwest Florida's coasts, but Charlie apparently has been coming around off and on for about five years.

Young Fashionables Go West

Jeans are big on the fashion scene among the campus crowd—especially in the "his and her" versions. His (left) are in wide wale with cargo pockets by H. D. Lee. Hers, more shaped and belled, are in a new diamond-effect sculptured-out corduroy by Inwood.

By HELEN HENNESSY

NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK—(NEA)—"Go West, young man!" Horace Greeley said years ago. And today lots of young fashionables are doing just that. But not in quite the way that famous newspaper editor had in mind. They are going West in their styling and making it big on the fashion scene with the western-country look.

Outstanding in both women's and men's clothes, this look satisfies the fashion desires of the city, campus and country dwellers. It's the casual air, the nonchalance that spells out young ideas of the way to look.

The great outdoors beckons and those sturdy souls with their back-to-nature philosophy are dressing for the part. All the separates, the jeans, the shirts, the work shoes and boots, the ornamental belts, the cowboy hats are a life style all their own.

Many years ago the first jeans were cut from a tenting fabric that the manufacturer couldn't sell and the original Levi's were born—tough, hardy work pants. Today's jeans are traditional yet different with more shapely legs, sometimes the novel trim of cargo pockets plus the use of new fabrics, particularly corduroys in fashion colors, prints and sculptured cuts, which update an ever-wearable style.

Western-country clothes are his and her styles. They are contemporary, classic and so right they are timeless.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — George Schlatter, who revolutionized television variety shows four years ago with his "Laugh-In," hopes to start another trend with his latest concept, "Wacky World."

Schlatter, a roaring, bearded giant affectionately called Crazy George by his "Laugh-In" associates, believes that the viewing public is now ready to savor comedy on a worldwide basis. His pilot program, filmed over Europe, South America and the United States during a five-month period, will be broadcast as an NBC special Monday, Sept. 13.

"People are accustomed to watching news bouncing in from all over," Schlatter said. "From London, Paris, Moscow. But so far humor has remained locked in studios in New York and Hollywood."

NBC's "Laugh-In" will go into its fifth season next month—"they said we couldn't keep it up for six months," Schlatter said with satisfaction.

The producer thinks the uninhibited series came at precisely the right time in television history.

"It moved into a vacuum," he said. "Variety had not changed in 15 years. The audience was bored with seeing the same people, the same scenes and the same twinkle lights night after night."

"So we turned to brevity. We condensed the comedy. After all, everybody with access to a television set had seen so much entertainment it was no longer necessary to set the audience up so they could understand the jokes."

The result, as any mildly discerning viewer knows, is that the whole tempo of television humor has speeded up. Variety shows generally abandoned long, wandering sketches for quick skits leading directly to punch lines or the black outs.

In television as in the rest of business, nothing succeeds like success, so the industry will be watching George's new baby, "Wacky World," carefully.

Schlatter believes that the disappearance of many TV variety shows this season is the result of suicide.

"When you think back over the past two years, you realize that only two new stars have emerged—Flip Wilson and Lily Tomlin," he said. "That isn't because of lack of comedy talent. It's just that there is no way in the old form to find it and develop it. What we need is a new vehicle—that's what I hope we have with 'Wacky World.'"

CHURCHGOERS DISSENT

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP) — When Central Presbyterian Church members learned that the Presbyterian Council on Church and Race had allocated $10,000 for the defense of Angela Davis, a card-carrying Communist, a number of them became incensed and threatened to curtail donations and possibly leave the church.

As a follow up, church members were sent a copy of a resolution protesting "the benevolences for such a cause because it is counter-productive of the purposes for which the church's funds were raised."

No-fault Divorce Is No Mill

By RICH OPEL
Associated Press Writer
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)

Cutting the ties that bind is a whole lot less complicated in Florida these days. But "no-fault" divorce hasn't turned the Sunshine State into one big divorce mill—as some critics feared it would.

Since July 1 a fed-up husband or wife hasn't been able to file for divorce in Florida. The process is now legally called "dissolution of marriage" and popularly known as "no-fault" divorce.

Now a marriage breakup only requires that a court find the relationship "irretrievably broken."

For 143 years before the legislature decided this spring that times demanded a change, divorce in Florida—as in many other states—often was an agonizing affair.

A spouse had to prove his partner committed adultery, subjected him to extreme cruelty, ran out on the family, was impotent, a drunk or a drug addict.

A lawyer-legislator who backed the new law, Sen. Gerald Lewis, says he has seen recent cases in his practice where the new law saved heartbreak.

One involved a young childless couple who realized the marriage just hadn't worked, he said.

"Under the old system, they would have been forced to decide which one would concoct some fiction about the other

Woman Charges Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has pleaded guilty to a charge of discrimination against a female diplomat and promised to mend its ways.

Alison Palmer, a career foreign service officer since 1960, had complained that she had been denied assignments to posts in Africa because of her sex and that her career was hurt.

"I accept this finding" by a hearing examiner supporting her complaint, Deputy Undersecretary of State William B. Macomber Jr. said in a decision made public Wednesday by the State Department.

"In the future no distinction based on the sex of the employee should be made and instructions to this effect will be issued," Macomber said.

By way of remedy, Macomber proposed that Miss Palmer be promoted from foreign service officer Grade 4 to Grade 3.

being guilty of extreme cruelty," the Miami Democrat said.

The risk of courtroom emotionalism has lessened, judges say.

Circuit Judge C. Pfeiffer Trowbridge started packing a pistol under his robes in 1968 and he said it was not so much criminal as domestic cases which prompted him to arm up.

"Quite frequently you'd read about a man shooting his wife outside the courthouse," said the judge. "This new law will improve the situation. It won't eliminate it."

Under the new law, conditions also are different after a judge closes a case.

The father is given equal consideration in the awarding of child custody. And a man—as well as a woman—may be given alimony.

Last month in Miami, 69-year-old Charles W. Ossolo filed suit for dissolution of marriage against his wife, Suzanne, 46, and asked the judge to award him alimony.

He said he made only $4,800 as a storekeeper last year and was suffering from emphysema, while his wife earns between $7,000 and $10,000 annually and has two degrees in science.

"Judges will be looking at salaries and who earns what, rather than who is wearing the skirt," said attorney Melvin B. Frumkes of Miami.

In Duval County (Jacksonville), there were 407 cases in July 1970 and 575 in July 1969, there were 330 last July and 344 this July.

MAMA' BOY HARD TO LAND

Dear Helen:
I'm going with a wonderful man of 30. He treats me great, but sees me only about once a week.

Here's the problem: He lives with his widowed mother. She's attractive, but not interested in marrying again. Her only interest is her son. She still treats him like a little boy—scrubs his back when he's in the tub, washes his hair, I imagine she even tucks him in at night. And she's very possessive.

I sort of raise my eyebrows at their closeness and she says, "So what, she's my mother, isn't she?"

What would marriage with him be like?—APPREHENSIVE

Dear Ap:
...A three-for-all, until Mama made it a twosome again.—H.

Dear Helen:
I knew my husband was messing around with this other woman, but on our 25th wedding anniversary he swore he was going to give her up.

Well, a few days later my prize gold fish disappeared. My grown daughter gave me five angel fish to take its place, as I love my aquarium. But three of them were missing a day later. My husband said they died and he flushed them, but I know for a fact that this woman of his also has an aquarium and a mutual friend said she got some new fish recently. The description tallied.

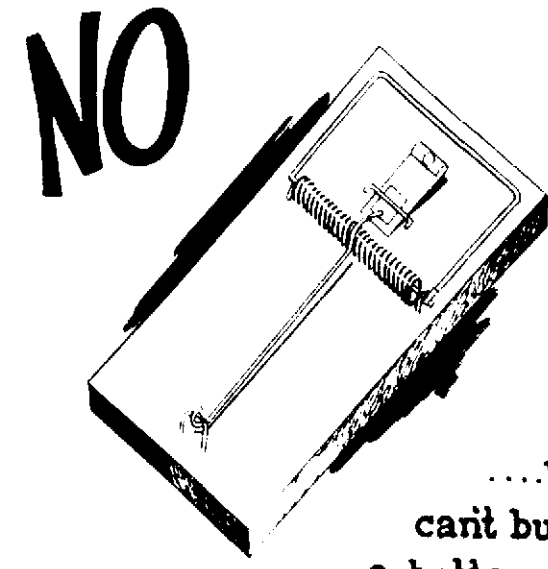

It's said that watching fish calms your nerves. Do you suppose she and that lying man need tranquilizers because they feel so guilty? Or maybe he's getting even because I found some lipstick on his shirt.

It's bad enough that she got my husband, Helen, but must she have my wonderful fish too?—MAD FISH LOVER

Dear Mad:
Given a choice, which would you prefer returned first? And, if it's necessary to think about the answer—maybe this explains why your husband is fish-watching elsewhere.—H.

Dear Helen:
I agree with you, Helen: If a woman is smart, she can have the best of two worlds, and who's going to knock that? I'm for Personhood (as that editor advocated) but I feel that each individual has the right to decide just what personhood means to him or her. Many "liberators" expect ALL women to take their definition and, if we did, wouldn't we be "automatons," a stereotyped group, all put together in a bag—just what she abhors?

I love my two worlds. In January, I will graduate, a certified elementary school teacher. Yes, an age-old profession for women, but one I chose! I am an equal in the eyes of all men except a small

Athletes Not Exempt From Wage Freeze

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pro athletes have been told they are not exempt from President Nixon's 90-day freeze on wages and prices. Still, there is much confusion.
The Cost of Living Council, in its seventh list of questions and answers issued to clarify the freeze, ruled that professional athletes who had not entered into new contracts prior to the Aug. 15 freeze cannot negotiate contracts during the 90-day period calling for salary increases to cover their services during the freeze.
The council, Nixon's policy-making board, apparently gave the answer to many questions but failed to reply to others, such as the rulings' application to bonuses and incentives and to long-term contracts.
Pete Retzlaff, general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles, who have eight players unsigned, said: "We never felt that professional football would or should be exempt from the President's order."
"We haven't yet seen any official statements on the freeze as it applies to professional football, but we assume that we can continue to negotiate with players who are unsigned, and that each contract we arrive at will contain a paragraph referring to the executive order and acknowledge that the contract will not become effective until such time as the wage and price controls are removed."
"There are a number of things that we still don't know," said Retzlaff. "We don't know whether incentives and bonuses would be considered valid or invalid. For the other things we'll just have to wait and find out."
Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the National Basketball Association, said he was not surprised at the ruling because the league does not believe professional basketball should be exempt.
"We did not ask for any exemptions," he said. "Some of the clubs were confused and asked us to find out what we could. We sent out answers to their questions."
Joe Axelson, general manager of the Cincinnati Royals of the NBA, also said he was not surprised at the latest ruling.
"I didn't see how they could make an exception for one group of workers and not another," he said. "We have a few players unsigned but it will actually affect players who are on long-term contracts calling for increases each year."

Return Match in Saratoga Hopeful Stakes

A return meeting between Riva Ridge and Loquacious at 75 meters," Spitz said. Don in the $75,000 Saratoga Stakes at Saratoga highlights the thoroughbred racing program this weekend.
Riva Ridge and Loquacious but I didn't have enough left Don finished first and second in the finish," said the $34,950 Flash Stakes on the opening day of the Saratoga meeting Aug. 2.
Their return meeting features the closing day Saturday of the annual 2-day Spa meeting. The horses return to New York on Monday at Belmont Park.
The Saratoga, a 6½ furlong race for 2-year-olds, usually provides a clue to those colts who may compete in the Triple Crown Classics as 3-year-olds.
Riva Ridge, a son of First Landing-Iberia owned by Meadow Stable, won the six-furlong test by 2½ lengths over Nelson B. Hunt's Loquacious 1:09 4-5 a record for the stake.
Other likely starters for the Saratoga include Governor Max, Bold, Tarboosh, Too-muchholme and Buck The System. Elsewhere on Saturday are the $30,000 Del Mar Derby, the $25,000 Paganet Handicap at Atlantic City, the $25,000 Chicago Handicap at Hawthorne and the $10,000 White Mountain Seattle oval.

Porkers Plan Scrimmage Saturday
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Thursday the Razorbacks were scheduled for a major scrimmage Saturday afternoon.
He said the game would put the first team against the second unit and should give coaches their best opportunity so far to evaluate the players.
The Porkers practiced Thursday in shorts.
Broyles said, "We've been sore with six full-pad practices, and it's been so hot, we decided to go in shorts." The Hogs had another session in shorts on lap for today.
"We're still learning," said Broyles, "and getting everything ready for Saturday."
Fullback Russ Garber and defensive halfback Mike Saint missed practice Thursday. Garber had a swollen foot and Saint was out with a virus.
Mark Spitz Wins Men's Freestyle
By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

HOUSTON (AP) — For a guy who holds two world records, Mark Spitz of Carmichael, Calif., wasn't thinking too positively Thursday night in the finals of the men's 200-meter freestyle at the National AAU Swimming Championships.
"I figured I'd get third," the bronzed Californian said. "I was counting on the worst but I just kept trying."
Whatever Spitz tried worked because he caught Jerry Heidenreich of Southern Methodist in the final 75 meters to win the men's 200-meter freestyle in 1:54.744, only three-tenths of a second off the world record of 1:54.3 Spitz shares with Don Schollander.
Heidenreich, the seventh qualifier in the field of eight, followed his game plan of jumping to a quick lead and was ahead of Spitz at the end of the first lap.
"The last time I looked was at 75 meters," Spitz said. "Then I just put my head down and started swimming. I didn't look any more until the finish."
"I swam it just like I want to but I didn't have enough left in the final turn and finished at 1:55.033," Fred Tyler of Canada Dry Jets was third at 1:56.129.
Spitz' victory was one of six championships decided in the four-day event Thursday.
Gary Hall, the world record holder in the 400-meter individual medley, made a good run at his own record in the finals, winning it in 4:33.112.
Rick Colella of the Cascade Landing-Iberia owned by Meadow Stable, won the six-furlong test by 2½ lengths over Nelson B. Hunt's Loquacious 1:09 4-5 a record for the stake.
Other likely starters for the Saratoga include Governor Max, Bold, Tarboosh, Too-muchholme and Buck The System. Elsewhere on Saturday are the $30,000 Del Mar Derby, the $25,000 Paganet Handicap at Atlantic City, the $25,000 Chicago Handicap at Hawthorne and the $10,000 White Mountain Seattle oval.

First Loss by Royals to Boston

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
After 12 straight defeats and the possibility of an embarrassing season sweep by the Kansas City Royals, the Boston Red Sox were on the verge of becoming the Red Faces.
The complexion suddenly changed, though.
Boston averted a series shut-out with a 7-0 triumph over Kansas City Thursday night, whipping the Royals for the first time in a year. The Red Sox lost the last game of 1970 and the first 11 this year.
"The odds just caught up with them, the law of averages," said Boston Red Sox Manager Eddie Kasko.
The odds may have had something to do about it, but the Red Sox also had something else going for them—Ray Culp.
He pitched a six-hitter.
"They had just beaten up on us," said the burly right-hander. "They've got a good, young club. It took one of my better nights to get them out."
All the action Thursday night was in the American League as the Cleveland Indians trimmed the Milwaukee Brewers 10-6, the Baltimore Orioles beat the Chicago White Sox 8-7 in a rain-shortened, eight-inning game and Washington drubbed California 8-3.
Before running into Culp, the Royals were close to doing something that only one team in the history of baseball has done—sweep a season series.
The Baltimore Orioles shut out the Royals last year and, in fact, had won 23 straight over two seasons before Kansas City won a game this season.
The Red Sox made certain there wouldn't be another sweep this year as they scored four runs in the fifth off Ken Wright, including Reggie Smith's three-run homer.
"My home run was about due," said Smith. "I don't recall ever coming here without hitting one."
Ed Farmer pitched strong relief as Cleveland rallied from a 4-0 deficit with four runs in the fourth and five in the seventh to beat Milwaukee.
Paul Blair delivered a tie-breaking single in the Baltimore eighth before rain washed out a two-run rally by Chicago in the ninth.
Larry Bittner touched off a five-run spurge with a tie-breaking single in the ninth inning, carrying Washington over California.
Methodists, Catholics in Playoff
In the Church League Softball playoff Thursday night First Methodist defeated Unity Baptist 8 to 3. Tommy Overton hit two homers and David Fayad hit one for the winners while Harvey Fullerton got one for the losers.
The Catholic team easily bested Liberty Baptist 14 to 1 with Gene Robinson getting a homer.
Thus First Methodist and the Catholics will play for the championship Friday and Saturday night in a two of three series.
Shreveport Clobbers Travelers
SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Shreveport unleashed a 15-hit attack to clobber the Arkansas Travelers 11-2 Thursday night.
David Frost held the Travelers to only four hits. Two of them came off the bat of George Greer.
Morris Nettles led the Captain attack with four hits. He led off the first inning with an infield hit and later scored for the first run of the game.
The Shreveport victory evened the series at game apiece. The two teams will face each other for the final game of the three-game series tonight. with a 2:08.036 clocking. Sandy Neilson of El Monte, Calif., was second at 2:01.564.
Ann Simmons, the defending champion in the event, was third at 2:08.888.
Jenny Bartz of Santa Clara Swim Club won the women's 400-meter individual medley in 5:08.382.

$1 Million Contract for Bobby Orr

By HARRY EISENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Bobby Orr, the Boston Bruins' super defenseman, has a new five-year contract, estimated to be worth $1 million, with the National Hockey League club.
Now there is the question: Is Orr free to begin spending his money?
The problem centers around President Nixon's 90-day price and wage control order, which is in effect until at least Nov. 14.
The President's Cost of Living Council said Thursday that athletes are not exempt from the freeze and may not negotiate new contracts calling for increases in salary during the freeze.
At a news conference Thursday to announce the contracts, Bruins' President Western Adams Jr. said the pact had been "completed and executed" last February after more than a year of negotiations.
He said the contract was not announced at the time because of several minor points that had to be resolved.
"It's up to the government to decide if it applies," said Alan Eagleson, Orr's financial advisor, in regard to the freeze.
"If the wage freeze applies to Bobby Orr's contract, he will play for last year's salary. If not, he'll play for the figure we've negotiated."
Orr's salary last season is estimated at $35,000-$40,000.
Although financial terms of the new contract were not announced, Eagleson, who also is executive director of the NHL's Player's Association, said it was "the highest in the history of hockey and probably one of the highest in the history of sports."
Orr, 23, the NHL's Most Valuable Player the past two seasons, said he was "very, very happy" with the contract.

PRO CHARTS

by MURRAY OLDERMAN
American Conference: Central Division
HOUSTON OILERS
PROSPECTUS—Still another new dealer. Bud Adams discards coaches with regularity of pumping oil well. This time it's Ed Hughes coming in to reshape Oilers. He's strong, silent type. Oilers, personnel-wise, don't make ripple either and don't show particular muscle. You can almost chalk this year off before it starts as a regrouping process.
Offense
PASSING — By tradition, Charley Johnson should be man behind center. The Ph.D. vet has had his physical problems, however. And look at all the money invested in rookies Dan Pastorini, Lynn Dickey, Pastorini's the one they rave about. Rating—B-.
RUNNING — Hoyle Granger, once a 1,000-yarder, became excess baggage with development of Joe Dawkins, find of '70. Now if Woody Campbell comes back healthy, or they can get something from Roy Hopkins and Mike Richardson, the ground threat will suffice. Rating—B-.
RECEIVING — Best stocked part of club. Two deep in all spots. Even Alvin Reed, one of best in NFL, faces challenge of Willie Frazier, who has equipment if not disposition to be one of best. Jerry LeVias was traded from the bomb corps, which added Ken Burroughs, who barely got bags unpacked in New Orleans. Mac Haik, Jim Beirne, couple of sure-handed vets, will have to step lively to stick around. Rating—A-.
LINE — In process of recasting. Got to find a right tackle. Might be ex-Jet Sam Walton or rookie Larron Jackson. Do savor return of Tom Regner, knee-decked last year, at guard. Still have stalwart tackle Walt Suggs, club old-timer, and center Bobby Maples. Rating—C+.

Defense
LINE — On paper, a great improvement. Got ready-made tackle pair from New Orleans, Dave Rowe and Mike Tilleman. Also picked up in trade were Ron Biliinglys and Gene Ferguson. And on wings retain Pat Holmes, steady man of unit, and Elvin Bethea, who signifies pass rush. Holdovers Leo Brooks, Willie Parker, Tom Dore are logical insurance. Rating—B+.

LINEBACKING — Garland Boyette is flanked by George Webster, Ron Pritchard. Webster missed half of last year with knee surgery; he gets raves as all-leaguer. But in performance, Pritchard has more fire. Boyette's an old pro in middle. They should make mobile, effective unit. Rating—B+.

SECONDARY — Coach Hughes' playing experience was back here, and he'll take big interest in this vital sector. He'll like strong safety Ken Houston, but rest of them will have to improve to impress. Trade brought in John Charles, once a touted talent who flubbed with two other teams. He'll team at corners with Zeke Moore, who had good season in '70. Rating—B-.

KICKING — Spike Jones, as punter, and Roy Gerela, as side-winding placekicker, performed well enough year ago to warrant good production in '71. Rating—B+.

Prediction
It's state of flux in which Oilers are sloshing around that grades them fourth in Central Division.

'Gorgeous Gussie' Back After 20 Yrs.
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Gertrude "Gorgeous Gussie" Moran returns to the tennis wars for the first time in 20 years next week, but don't look too hard for those famous lace panties.
"No, I don't intend to wear lace panties or any frilly stuff," the Santa Monica, Calif., beauty said after it was learned she's an entry in the U.S. Open Championships.
"I'll wear something very neat and conservative. Besides, there's nothing exciting about lace panties any more. The girls have been wearing them for years and now hot pants and see-through things are the rage."
Gussie, who shocked staid old Wimbledon with her sexy lace underthings beneath a white ballerina skirt back in 1949, launched a professional career shortly after that and in recent years has run the gauntlet of adventures.
She has served as hostess at exclusive West Coast racquet clubs, done modeling and television commercials, designed her own apparel and had stints as a magazine columnist and sports announcer.
She plays Alena Palmeova-West of Czechoslovakia in the opening round of the women's singles in the tournament, starting at the West Side Tennis Club here next Wednesday.
There were gasps and a rustle of whispers when the two-name "Gussie Moran" was called out Thursday at the official draw in the Indonesian 45 minutes devoted to a controlled scrimmage.
Texas Tech returned to two-day drills Thursday despite a variety of injuries.
Offensive guard Mike O'Brien was out with a leg injury suffered several days ago.
The Baylor Bears drilled for two hours Thursday with Coach players, ranking No. 4 in the Bill Beall dismissing the Bears women's list, and also was one of 20 minutes early as a reward the most exciting and unpredictable.

Palmer Leads in Pinehurst Match Play

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Arnold Palmer's made up his mind:
"I've come to the conclusion that it's a good tournament," he said after scoring a 68-71 victory over Mike Hill and leading the advance into today's third round of the $200,000 United States Professional Match Play Golf Championship.
"It's going to take time to develop, of course. Any tournament does."
"But it's interesting. I think the spectators like it. Almost anything can happen out there."
"An illustration of what could happen, almost did happen today."
He was referring to the eagle-birdie finish by Hill that turned what appeared to be a routine Palmer victory into a minor drama.
Hill, 32-year-old younger brother of Dave Hill, was five strokes down with two holes to play in the head-to-head competition in which scoring is based on total strokes over 18 holes.
He holed out a 120-yard wedge shot for an eagle two on the 17th and made up two strokes. And he put his second shot on the front of the green on the 484-yard, par-five finishing hole while Palmer was shot in two.
"Now he's in position to make another eagle and I could have three-putted or something and we're looking at a playoff," Palmer said. Hill left his eagle putt short, however, while Palmer pitched to 15 feet and made the putt for a birdie of his own to settle all doubts.
It was Palmer's fourth birdie of the day—he didn't have a bogey—was his second consecutive four-under-par effort and stamped him as a prime threat for the $35,000 first prize in this five-day tournament with a unique format.
Palmer had withheld comment on the format after winning his first round event, but gave it a strong endorsement after his second-round triumph.
"It's different. It offers some variety. I think that's good," he said. "Look, we play 50 or 60 stroke tournaments a year. Now we've got something different here. That's good."
Palmer, gunning for a fifth title this season, will play Dave Eichelberger in today's third round. Eichelberger, 28-year-old winner of the Milwaukee Open earlier this season, eliminated Lionel Hebert 72-76.
Oddly enough, almost one third of the surviving field—five out of sixteen—is 41 years old or older.
In addition to Palmer, they are Julius Boros, the 51-year-old National Seniors champion; Gene Littler, 41; Art Wall, 47; and Gardner Dickinson, 43.
Boros eliminated Terry Dill 73-76, Wall turned back rookie Hubert Green 71-73, while Littler and Dickinson won in sudden-death playoffs, each with a birdie on the first extra hole. Littler and Dave Hill tied 71-71 and Dickinson and Hinson tied 73-73.
Canadian George Knudson birdied the final hole, to eliminate Masters champ Charles Coody 68-69 in one of the day's better matches on the 6,973-yard, par-72 Country Club of North Carolina course.
Ray Floyd, a 67-69 upset winner over Jack Nicklaus in the first round, slipped to a 73 but still advanced over Bob Smith, who had a 74.
South African Gary Player also lost in the first round. Lee Trevino, recovering from an appendectomy, and Billy Casper, with a bad cold, are not competing.
offensive plays were reviewed.
The Aggies drilled Thursday at Texas A&M but Coach Gene Stallings said there is a long road ahead for the Aggie players reach polish.
"We're far from having a polished offensive line but I think the players will continue to improve," he said.
At Dallas, the SMU Mustangs went into pads Thursday for the first time when Coach Hayden Fry took the team to the Cotton Bowl for an hour's workout.
Sophomore quarterback Casey Ortez was a bright spot in the day's drill, completing six of 10 passes for 148 yards and three touchdowns.

Giants Are Going to New Jersey

By CARL ZEITZ
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — New Jersey Gov. William T. Cahill went to New York Thursday and came home with a football team, the New York Giants, who signed a 30-year lease to play in a state-owned stadium to be built in New Jersey by 1975.

Giants' owner and president Wellington Mara signed the lease assuring that his team will move to the planned 75,000-seat stadium to be built in the Hackensack River Meadowslands. David A. "Sonny" Werblin, former New York Jets owner and now chairman of the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority, signed for the state.

The lease gives the Giants an option to renew and calls on the team to pay an annual rent of 15 per cent of ticket sales revenues. The Giants and the state will share all revenues from stadium concessions.

There will be parking space for 25,000 cars and 400 buses and all parking revenues will go to the state authority.

Cahill said, "It's a truly great day for the State of New Jersey and as great a day for New York Giant fans and all the citizens of New York."

The governor said the new Giant Stadium would be "another bridge between New York and New Jersey."

The signing Thursday culminated six months of executive and legislative planning by the Cahill administration to bring New Jersey its first major league sports franchise.

Legislation creating the sports authority and authorizing the construction of a major sports complex on 750 acres of the meadowlands in East Rutherford was passed by the State Senate and Assembly and signed by Cahill last spring.

Ultimate plans for the complex include a racetrack, a baseball stadium, and an exposition and convention center. The project is expected to cost more than $100 million. The money will be raised through revenue bonds.

The racetrack is to be operated by the state. Profits from it are expected to pay for the entire complex.

Cahill said Giant Stadium would cost between $30 and $40 million. He said it would be the first facility built at the complex.

Construction cannot begin until the money has been raised through bonds and the state must obtain a racing license before the bonds may be issued. Cahill said the state would apply immediately to the State Racing Commission for the license.

Several suits have been filed challenging the State Sports Authority. The chief suit was filed by the state against the authority to test its constitutionality.

The case is before Superior Court Judge Morris Pashman of Bergen County and arguments will be heard Sept. 30.

Cahill said the guiding force in planning for the sports complex and convincing the Giants to move to New Jersey was State Treasurer Joseph McCrane, a former tackle at West Point.

Mara said he didn't regard his team's move to New Jersey as a desertion of New York City.

He noted the Mara family has owned and operated the Giants for 46 years, including 31 years during which the team played at the old Polo Grounds in Manhattan and for the last 15 years at Yankee Stadium.

"Each family dreams of the day it can get into its own house and get away from its in-laws."

The Giants have never had their own stadium, but have always been the tenants of other teams or organizations.

Mara said, "If you have a seat now in Yankee Stadium, you'll have a better seat in Giant Stadium and there will be 10 or 15 thousand more."

The team intends to play at Yankee Stadium through the end of its lease in 1975 and will retain the name New York Football Giants, Mara said.

New York City has recently approved a $24 million bond issue to restore Yankee Stadium, spurred by reports the Giants and possibly the New York Yankees baseball team were moving to New Jersey.

Cowboys Use Blitz to Beat Oilers

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — With Lynn Dickey, the brilliant rookie from Kansas State, as the victim, the Dallas Cowboys used the safety blitz Thursday night to breakup a rough and tough exhibition game and reclaim the "Texas Championship" with a 28-20 victory over the Houston Oilers.

With 3:42 remaining in the final period and the Cowboys clinging to a 14-13 lead, the Dallas Blitz enabled Cornell Green to intercept a Dickey pass and clinch the victory with a 40-yard touchdown return.

Just 70 seconds later, after covering a kickoff fumble, the Cowboys put the game out of reach as Dan Reeves, on a fieldgoal pass, passed eight yards to D.D. Lewis for the fourth touchdown.

The Cowboys are undefeated in four exhibition games.

Dickey, making his first start as a pro quarterback, completed 14 of 31 passes for 295 yards and two touchdowns but blamed himself for the interception that broke up the close game at the Astrodome.

"It was my own fault that I didn't read the blitz," Dickey said. "They found out and kept coming with it."

Ed Hughes, the new Oiler coach said, "Lynn Dickey showed me a lot of cool."

Hughes stuck to Dickey all the way, leaving veteran Charley Johnson and rookie Dan Pastorini on the sideline.

Coach Tom Landry was not too happy even though the Cowboys recaptured the Texas Governor's Cup the Oilers had claimed a year ago with a 37-21 upset.

Landry had Roger Staubach at quarterback except for a brief period just before halftime when Craig Morton directed a 24-yard drive Walt Garrison climaxed by plunging over from the one to put Dallas ahead to stay at 14-10.

Staubach and Dickey had opened the game by exchanging 7-yard scoring drives. A 43-yard Staubach pass to Bob Hayes at the Oiler five permitted Garrison to score from the two.

Dickey struck back on Houston's first play with a 75-yard touchdown pass to Willie Fraizer. Dickey's second scoring pass came with just 16 seconds before the final gun, a 60-yarder to Jim Bierne.

Houston took a 10-7 lead late in the first period on a 14-yard field goal by Booth Lusteg after the Oiler had covered a Cowboy fumble at the Dallas 32. Lusteg later cut the Dallas lead to 13-14 with a 31-yarder four plays after Spike Jones had faked a punt and raced 38 yards to the Dallas 24.

The defeat dropped Houston to 2-3 in exhibition play.

North's four diamond bid was one of those special gadgets. It showed very strong heart support and diamonds void. South went into Blackwood. He thought of a grand slam after his partner showed three aces, but settled for six because he did not see much chance to ruff all five of his diamonds.

Against any other lead, South could take the black aces and make all 10 trumps separately, but now he could only score nine tricks with the trump suit. He had to get his 12th trick from either clubs or diamonds. He could not afford to play a second trump since he had to ruff three diamonds in dummy.

South worked all this out before playing to the first trick. Then he carefully overtook dummy's eight of trumps with his 10. He had seen that it was essential to start his cross ruff with a diamond.

The next seven plays were a diamond ruff; the ace of clubs; a club ruff with the four of trumps (South could not afford to ruff high); two more diamond ruffs and two more club ruffs.

This left South with two high trumps, two diamonds and a spade. Dummy held the good queen of clubs and the four spades that were there at the start. South's two trumps pulled West's; the ace of spades was an entry to dummy and the queen of clubs was the 12th trick.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Tap Water Usually Free of Germs

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—We frequently get virus, and our four small children often contract a variety of infections in addition to virus. We wonder if a water purifier attached below the kitchen sink would help. A water softener salesman contended that it would remove germs. We use water for drinking and also for mixing with frozen orange or grape juice. What about bottled natural spring water?

Dear Reader—Even if it is true that a water purifier removes germs, the water would first have to contain significant amounts of germs for it to add anything useful. Public Health water regulations require a rather safe level of chemicals in the water to prevent water-borne disease, which should adequately solve the problem. Most water softeners are used to remove chemicals that harden water rather than to remove "germs." I must add that viruses are not germs in the usual sense as germs are bacteria and are often more easily dealt with.

I'm not enthusiastic about bottled spring water. You can be fairly sure it is safe if you buy it in bottles in a supermarket, otherwise I can't give a blanket endorsement. A natural spring can be not too far from an outdoor privy in some areas (this also applies to that old well with the nostalgic oaken bucket) and that can lead to contamination.

If you want soft water for the kitchen you might just get distilled water from the grocery store. I am not opposed to using soft water in the house for the right purpose, and it has some advantages. But unless there is something else beside water-softening being added or something is drastically wrong with your local water supply I can't see that it will affect your health favorably.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Recently my husband passed away from an aneurysm of the heart which was not discovered by electrocardiogram or X rays. What would cause this weak spot to form?

Dear Reader—An aneurysm of the heart is a sac-like protrusion where the heart muscle has been replaced by scar tissue. The weak scar tissue is the sac. The usual cause is a previous heart attack (which may not have caused any symptoms), the area of damaged muscle being replaced by weak scar tissue. The sac is hard to see in some locations by ordinary X rays and frequently does not cause any changes in the electrocardiogram. Often the aneurysm ruptures when there is new damage to the heart muscle, from a new attack.

Entertainment in the Skies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Live entertainment in the skies is another episode in the airlines' battle for passengers.

Continental said it pioneered Wednesday when Rick Samples, a singer-guitarist, entertained passengers on a flight to Honolulu.

And American announced that singer Frank Sinatra Jr. and seven musicians would launch its tunes-in-the-sky program on a flight to New York today. It's a one-flight stand, but American said it would install electronic pianos on 15 Boeing 747 jets for the use of passengers.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The trade-marked title of the Ouija board (pronounced wee-jah) came from oui and ja, French and German words meaning yes. Mystic powers attributed to the board by many caused an Ouija craze to sweep the world, although the toy's inventors had made no such claims, according to The World Almanac.

MAY NOW DO SOMETHING ABOUT WEATHER
By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — With a twist on Twain, Congress is considering legislation requiring those who do something about the weather to talk about it—either report their activity or risk a $10,000 fine.
When weather was nature's domain and man just giped about it, Mark Twain somehow got stuck with the crack that everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it. Actually, the Library of Congress pins the phrase on Charles D. Warner.
At any rate, Twain and Warner were gone by the time Irving Langmuir and Vincent Schaefer came along in 1946 with field experiments generally credited with showing that cloud-changing and artificial production of rain were possible.
Weather modification, redistribution of rain and dissipation of fog since have become realities. And researchers are working on ways to deal with hail, lightning, hurricanes and tornadoes.
In 1958, Congress required those who tinker with the weather to report to the National Science Foundation.
But 10 years later, the law was repealed.
"Thus, there is today no central source of complete and reliable information with regard to weather modification activities," says a House Commerce Committee report urging enactment of a new law.
"Such a record would assist in establishing whether cloud-seeding activities have been a factor in reducing rainfall and creating drought in certain localities," the report says.
"Furthermore, if weather-modification activities continue to expand in scope and effectiveness, and all present indications are that they will, the advance reporting of those activities required by the legislation will be essential to making accurate weather forecasts."
The committee-approved bill would require anyone outside the federal government to report to the secretary of commerce before and after engaging in weather-modification work.

PROPOSED P.B. L.R. TURNPIKE NOT FEASIBLE
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Connecticut firm of consulting engineers has concluded, for the second time, that a proposed Little Rock-Pine Bluff turnpike is not economically feasible.
The state Highway Commission, which authorized the study June 4, revealed Wednesday the report made by Wilbur Smith and Associates of New Haven, Conn.
A report made by the same firm in 1968 reached the same conclusion regarding the proposed 21.8-mile turnpike, but said the route was the most nearly feasible of those proposed in Arkansas.
Arkansas law prohibits construction of toll roads unless they have previously been found feasible but a reputable consulting firm.
The study was based on the assumption that the turnpike would be open to motorists Jan. 1, 1975, and that development of areas along the route would continue at the present pace.
The firm assumed that a 40-year bond issue of $18,925,000 would be used to finance construction of the toll road and projected that average annual gross revenues from use of the route would be $2,899,000 over an assumed 37-year earning period.
In developing a probable bond issue size, a bond interest rate of 7.5 per cent was used, because of present market conditions, for financing a revenue bond project, the report said.
The conclusion was that first-year gross revenues from the turnpike would fall short of the maximum possible interest on such a bond issue, although over the life of the project average net revenue probably would meet all interest and amortization requirements.
However, Arkansas law sets an interest ceiling of 7 per cent. "It is very doubtful that a revenue bond issue carrying an interest rate of less than 7.5 per cent could be marketed under present conditions," the report said.
Under a level debt service arrangement, the turnpike might be feasible if some form of subsidy could be arranged for the early years of the project, to be repaid in later years from revenue generated by use of the turnpike, the report added.
Such an arrangement would require legislative action, however.
"If a form of state guarantee for bonds could be obtained, this would act to decrease the bond interest rate to possibly 6.5 per cent with corresponding reductions in the bond issue and maximum interest and level debt service requirements," the report said.
The firm reported that the main artery currently between the two cities, U.S. 65, has experienced significant "strip development" in recent years, resulting in slower traffic flow and greater route use near Little Rock and Pine Bluff.
The flow could decrease to a point where economic development would eventually be hampered unless additional transportation service is provided, the study said.
Currently, an average speed of only about 50 miles per hour may be achieved along U.S. 65 because of the traffic load, estimated at 6,000 to 7,000 vehicles daily, and difficulties encountered in passing slower-moving traffic.

Be on the LOOKOUT

Many times throughout history, government power was equally divided between three men. This triumvirate system was better in theory than practice; because notes developed and the three were reduced to one, or none.

There is another triumvirate: Me, Myself, and I. And as with all other threesomes, conflict begins. Only, somehow, internal struggles are harder to fight than external ones. Internal struggles turn us into ourselves and shut us off from outside ones. They blind and restrict us and limit our ability to LOOKOUT.

We don't like being shut off, alone, but we can't really LOOKOUT and help others until we can see and help ourselves. What a pity that we don't bring internal peace by turning from ourselves and reaching out to help others. For in giving, we are getting. And in helping we are being helped.

We need to LOOKOUT beyond ourselves to the distant horizon; into the sunrise of companionship and the sunset of shared love.

We must look out, instead of looking in, if we are to help others. We need to be on the LOOKOUT.

So They May See = The Acts 3:1-13 = So They May Hear

NOW PETER AND JOHN went up together into the temple at the hour of prayer, being the ninth hour.

2. And a certain man lame from his mother's womb was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple which is called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the temple;

3. Who seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple asked an alms.

4. And Peter, fastening his eyes upon him with John, said, Look on us.

5. And he gave heed unto them, expecting to receive something of them.

6. Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk.

7. And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up: and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength.

8. And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God.

AND ALL THE PEOPLE saw him walking and praising God:

10. And they knew that it was he which sat for alms at the Beautiful gate of the temple: and they were filled with wonder and amazement at that which had happened unto him.

11. And as the lame man which was healed held Peter and John, all the people ran together unto them in the porch that is called Solomon's, greatly wondering.

12. And when Peter saw it, he answered unto the people, Ye men of Israel, why marvel ye at this? or why look ye so earnestly on us, as though by our own power or holiness we had made this man to walk?

13. The God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Jacob, the God of our fathers, hath glorified his Son Jesus; whom ye delivered up, and denied him in the presence of Pilate, when he was determined to let him go.

Official Says He Received Huge Loans

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson has acknowledged he received $230,000 in unsecured loans from the bank of Frank W. Sharp, central figure in a Texas stock-fraud case.

Wilson said Thursday the latest $30,000 loan from the Sharp-town Bank was in August 1970, 18 months after he joined the Justice Department, and after the Securities and Exchange Commission began a probe of Sharp's activities.

Wilson said he repaid the loan in March of this year, two months after Sharp and a number of Texas officials were named in what the SEC termed the "systematic looting" of banks and insurance companies through stock manipulations.

Wilson, head of the Justice Department's criminal division, released a nine-page statement describing the loans and how his net worth nearly tripled to $1.3 million between 1963 and 1968. Wilson was Sharp's attorney during 1967 to 1969, when Sharp built a financial empire through his bank-real estate-insurance conglomerate.

Wilson denied he advised Sharp how to get around state banking laws to raise funds to buy the National Bankers Life Insurance Co. The firm is one the SEC says Sharp and associates milked in a quick-profits scheme that involved top Texas officials, astronauts and Jesuit priests among others. Sharp alleged last week in an SEC affidavit Wilson had given him such counsel.

Wilson said he prepared the statement to answer "insinuations that I am or have been involved in illegal activities as a result of this association. There is absolutely no truth to this." He said he nearly tripled his net worth through land dealings and his expanding law practice, not through any connection with Sharp.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, the Texas Democrat who has been calling for Wilson's resignation for more than two months because of his ties to Sharp, said Wilson didn't explain enough.

"His lengthy statement, issued through a mimeograph machine, is not even a good dodge," Gonzalez said.

Gonzalez said that in nine pages Wilson neglected to mention he was general counsel for three of Sharp's firms, including National Bankers.

Wilson said Sharp was one of more than 100 clients of his Austin law firm.

Judge Won't Rule on Shorter Fund

LITTLE ROCK (AP)— Chancellor Kay Matthews said Thursday he lacked authority to issue a court order requiring Bishop D. Ward Nichols of Little Rock, bishop of the 12th Episcopal District, to produce records of a "utility fund."

There has been some controversy over whether the fund belonged to the church or Shorter College at North Little Rock, an African Methodist Episcopal institution.

Attorneys for two AME ministers had filed suits against Nichols and officials of Shorter College had asked that the utility fund be produced in court. At issue was whether the disputed fund was set up by the college or the AME church and also whether the college is a function of the church or a separate entity.

Matthews ruled Thursday the fund was the property of the church and he lacked authority to order the records be produced in court.

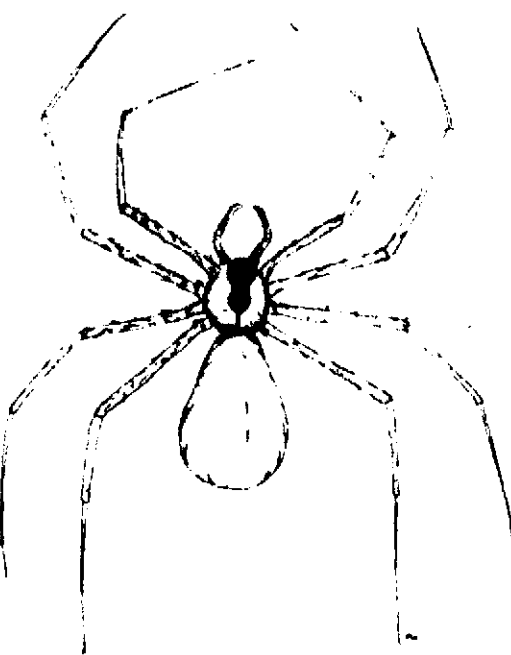

The suits are scheduled for a final hearing on Sept. 13. On a separate issue of whether he has jurisdiction to try the suits, Matthews asked attorneys to file briefs in 15 days.

The suits allege that Nichols wrongfully used part of the fund for personal reasons.

Money in the fund reportedly came from church projects and contributions from church organizations.

a half-dollar in size—usually dies and sloughs away, leaving a sunken scar described as "resembling a hole scooped from the body."

The brown recluse is no stranger in Arkansas, says Gordon Barnes, Extension entomologist for the University of Arkansas. It is well named, though, taking the common name from its preference for dry, undisturbed area. Outdoors, it may be found under stones, in the bark of dead trees, and in rubbish heaps. Indoors, storerooms and attics are favored. It is also found under furniture, behind furniture pushed against the wall, and—this is where most bites to humans come from—in unused clothing left for a period hanging in storerooms or closets.

Barnes says the brown recluse—with the formidable name of Loxosceles reclusa—is only about a half inch long, not counting the legs. It is most easily identified by the characteristic fiddle or violin marking on the head-part of the body. (And, if you care to look closely enough, this spider and his close relatives, has six instead of eight eyes.)

The best control is periodic cleaning and removal of unused or unneeded material from yard and closets. This, combined with a residual spray treatment, should eliminate existing infestations.

Spider control may be a part of normal household insect control if care is used to see that all places where spiders may hide are treated. Diazinon, at 0.5 per cent, is frequently used by pest control operators.

Sees No Need for Special Session

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Richard Arnold of Texarkana, chairman of the Rules Committee of the Democratic State Committee, told the committee Thursday he thought an acceptable plan of certifying delegates to the 1972 Democratic National Convention could be worked out without calling a special session of the legislature.

There has been talk of a need for a special session to change the law because the statewide delegate election will be June 27, seven days after names of Democratic delegates are supposed to be certified to the National Committee.

The statewide election in June will be to name 80 per cent of the delegates by popular vote, a new requirement of the national party.

Arkansas law is silent on how the other 20 per cent of the delegates are to be selected, but Arnold proposed that they be named by the 80 per cent, a process that he said would meet national party guidelines.

Arnold foresaw no problem if the state party's entire delegate selection process were completed by June 30.

He said he would send a draft of his plan to representatives of the National Committee for approval and then would submit the proposal to the State Committee for its approval.

Arkansas will be entitled to 25 regular convention delegates, 20 of whom must be popularly elected, plus the party's committeeman and committeewoman.

Arnold said it was important that the state party meet the national guidelines and avoid a challenge of its delegation because "we may be fortunate enough to have within the borders of our state a major candidate for president." The reference apparently was to Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who has been mentioned as a possi-

New Effort for Peace in Middle East

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomatic sources predicted today that Gunnar V. Jarring will make a new effort next month to get the Israelis and Arabs talking.

They said Jarring, the Swedish ambassador to Moscow, will arrive in New York about mid-September to resume his role as special U.N. envoy for the Middle East. He will begin by talking with the Israeli and Arab foreign ministers who are coming to New York for the U.N. General Assembly.

Jarring has been trying since the end of 1967 to get the adversaries of the six-day war to open negotiations for a settlement. The closest he has come was indirect talks last winter between the Israeli, Egyptian and Jordanian delegates to the United Nations with Jarring acting as go-between. Neither the Jews nor the Arabs gave any ground, and Jarring went back to Moscow.

Some sources said that while on vacation in Sweden this summer, Jarring offered to return to New York to talk with the Arab and Israeli ambassadors again.

They said Secretary-General U Thant advised him instead to give the United States more time to try to work out an interim Egyptian-Israeli agreement to reopen the Suez Canal. But chances for such an agreement do not look good after Asst. Secretary of State Joseph Sisco's recent unproductive visit to Israel.

The U.N. delegates from the Big Four—the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Britain—also have been unsuccessful in their efforts to lend a hand to a settlement. After a meeting on Sept. 9, they probably will turn the matter over to their foreign ministers when they come to New York toward the end of the month for the Assembly.

So far, none of this conferring appears likely to produce any movement toward a settlement. The prospect is that in October or November the Assembly will hold another debate on the Middle East with a rerun of the Arab and Israeli positions.

European Reaction Favorable

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The British and European currency markets reacted favorably today to Japan's decision to float the yen.

Foreign exchanges were generally wary and quotations against the dollar, the British pound, the Swiss and French francs and the German mark were hesitant and fluctuating except in Germany where the dollar fell.

Common Market sources in Brussels welcomed the Japanese decision as helpful in firming up the true value of currency exchanges.

The Europeans reckon that Japanese exports to the United States would be cut by a rise in the value of the yen.
